

While navigating the seas of Liangkiau, in the southern end of Taiwan, in spring 1867, the American merchant ship "Rover" struck a coral reef and capsized. As they entered a sacred territory, fourteen American sailors were killed by local Taiwanese tribes. In a land torn by power struggles, this incident will lead Tokitok, Chief of the Liangkiau 18 Community, to confront new challenges.
(Taiwan+)

RUB

東 RUB
OAW

Insights Into the TV Series

斯長羅
FORMOSA
1867
SEQALU

Public event: Everybody is warmly welcome!

Introductory talk by Prof. Lin Hsin-yi 林欣宜 (NTNU, Taiwan) and discussion with the audience.

With the generous support of the Taiwan Ministry of Culture.

Thursday, 30 June 2022, 18:00–20:00
Ruhr-Universität Bochum, HGB 20

Original language with English and Chinese subtitles. The discussion will be held in English.